

Scanning Devices

<https://campus.barracuda.com/doc/27732/>

Typically, you would scan a device when you suspect that it has been infected, or after you have updated the virus definitions. You can scan a device directly on the Avast Business Antivirus page for a device.

To scan a device

1. Do one of the following:
 - On the multi-site page, in the Alert Summary area, click the number beside Sites with virus scan overdue.
 - On the site page, in the Alert Summary area, click the number beside Devices with virus scan overdue.
2. Click the name of a device to open the device level page.
3. In the Management area, click Scan Now.
When the scan begins, a message will display at the top of the page stating "The requested action was queued successfully".
4. Click the red X to close this message.

To scan all devices at a site

You can initiate a scan on all devices at a site.

1. In Service Center, click Avast Antivirus.
2. In the Deployment Summary area, click the number beside Sites configured with Antivirus.
3. Click the name of a site.
4. In the Management area, click Scan Now.
When the scan begins, a message will display at the top of the page stating "The requested action was queued successfully".
5. Click the red X to close this message.

To update virus definitions on a device

You can quickly search for and act on devices that have out of date virus definitions.

1. Do one of the following:
