
Legal Hold Requirements

Use Barracuda PST Enterprise to apply corporate data management across PST files even when they are stored locally, eliminating legal and compliance risks inherent in Dark Data while maintaining an accurate landscape of just where these PST files are located. Determine your organization's legal hold requirements that need to be in place. Your organization will likely have pre-determined data sets (such as financial data or executive data) that must be retained. There may also be existing investigations or eDiscovery projects already underway that need to be taken into consideration. Data associated with these legal hold requirements must be flagged so that it is not removed or deleted during your PST elimination project or your company may be liable for sanctions.
