

How to Export the Message Log

<https://campus.barracuda.com/doc/77402367/>

The Message Log contents can be exported, but not the actual messages. To export Message Log entries, click the Export drop-down and select one of the following:

- Export Selected – Save selected lines of the Message Log to a CSV file. First, select the lines you want to export, then select Export Selected from the Export drop-down. You will be prompted for a file name to save to your local desktop or network.
- Export All – Save the entire Message Log to a CSV file. You will be prompted for a file name to save to your local desktop or network.

In a clustered environment, the maximum number of lines in a Message Log export is 10,000.
