<https://campus.barracuda.com/doc/94537604/>

Your feedback is important to us. We welcome both positive and negative feedback and respond to customers to better understand their opinions. We always aim to exceed your expectations by maintaining high standards for our support team. But we realize there is always room for improvement. We have therefore created a customer survey that can directly improve the support we give to customers and partners.

A dedicated team is responsible for reviewing feedback and directing product-related comments to our Product Management team for future consideration.
