

Custom Training by Barracuda

<https://campus.barracuda.com/doc/96770810/>

Custom Training courses provide training for organizations that require information and content that is tailored specifically to the needs of their employees. These courses can accommodate up to 10 people, either in a remote or classroom setting.

The Barracuda Networks Instructor-Led Training courses are delivered by our own training staff who have extensive experience working with our products.

And since no training is ever complete without being able to apply the knowledge you have gained in a real-world scenario, our courses also provide hands-on exercises on Barracuda Networks products in the safety of a lab environment.
