Pandemic Phishing Scams

While the COVID-19 pandemic has brought out the best in many, some scammers have used the opportunity to exploit companies through a variety of phishing attacks. In an effort to help fortify your business against these threats, Barracuda PhishLine is adding new content weekly that mimics popular coronavirus-related scams.

The search terms COVID, COVID-19, Corona, Coronavirus and Stimulus will reveal several emails available in the PhishLine tool you can use to test your employee's ability to spot a scam. For assistance with any of these, contact Barracuda PhishLine support.
