

RANSOMWARE

A growing threat in a world that's increasingly connected.

No Organization is Immune

Not too long ago it was safe to assume that if you ran a small to mid-sized business, attackers would bypass you for bigger, more lucrative targets.

This is no longer the case.

Just One Click

The simple act of clicking a malicious link in a phishing email can cripple an entire organization with ransomware.

Phishing awareness training is key.

Playing Dirty

Pandemics, presidential elections, natural disasters—you name it. Attackers will leverage anything in phishing emails to get you to react emotionally instead of rationally.

Keep your cool and stay safe.

Pay Once, Pay Often

Sure, you can pay a ransom to get your files back but as soon as you do, your organization is marked for possible future attacks.

Don't become a repeat victim.

Cloud Cover

Backing up your data can eliminate or minimize risk. Attackers are powerless if you have duplicate files to rely on,

Empowerment starts with you.

Keep Your Guard Up

A multi-layered technical approach to security helps mitigate the efficacy and spread of ransomware attacks.

Training + tools = success
