

Click Thinking

Summer 2021

NEW THIS SUMMER

A First for PhishLine Users

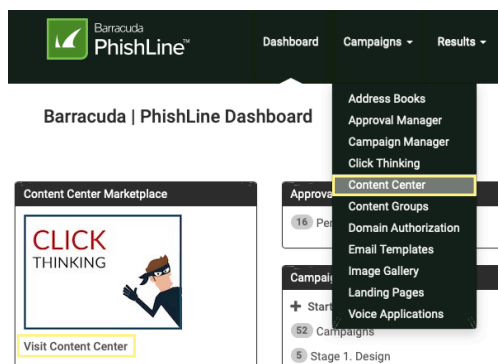

Now you can train your employees to recognize the 13 most prominent email security threats with an interactive infographic. It starts with a puzzle that comes to life once the last piece is in place. Users can then access videos and samples to learn about spam, business email compromise, malware and more. Just search 13 Threats Infographic in the content center to access this new training tool today!

CONTENT CENTER

In addition to interactive infographics, we've added lots more content to turn employees into a strong defense against cyberthreats:

- More 'Is This a Phish?' spot-the-clues training modules
- Business and summer travel security infographic
- Real world threats email templates featuring today's latest scams
- Translated emails for eastern European markets (coming soon)

BLOG & INFOGRAPHIC SPOTLIGHT

Blog: Business Email Compromise scams have proven highly effective for scammers in 2021. Covid-19 scams have also spiked as scammers leverage consumer anxiety over the disease. Learn more about these trends in the Barracuda Networks blog here.

Infographics: A new Where Did the Click Come From infographic is now available. This insightful visual identifies each potential point where a click on a simulated phishing email can occur—and answers the question you may have considered during the course of your simulated campaigns. In addition, a new Travel Security infographic outlining how to stay safe while on the road for business or pleasure is also ready to use. You can find both infographics in pdf format in the downloadable Click Thinking bundle.

QUICK TIP

Not sure where to go with your next simulated phishing campaign? Think like a cybercriminal and consult your company events calendar for inspiration. Having a softball tournament? An email requesting sizes for jerseys would get attention—and that's how scammers work. For more inspiration and campaign ideas search Quick Launch campaigns or emails in the Content Center.
