NEW THIS MONTH

This Month in History

Did you know Microsoft officially incorporated and Apple introduced the iPhone in the month of June? We're celebrating these milestones with lots of new content! It's hard to imagine how work would get done without the tech these iconic brands provide—and even harder to fathom not protecting it with Security Awareness Training from Barracuda! Read on to learn about the exciting new ways we're helping organizations and employees stay safe no matter what platforms or devices they prefer.

Four New Live-Actor Modules

Fresh, funny and filled with cameos from actors such as Michael B. Jordan, these highly produced vignettes take information security training to A-List levels—all in the time it takes to watch a Hollywood trailer!

New 'Hybrid Work Security' Curricula Now Available

While hybrid work arrangements can increase employee morale and productivity, they also provide cyber criminals with a wider attack surface for your organization. Our new Hybrid Work Security training curricula aims to protect you on all fronts. Featuring games, an interactive infographic and engaging express and live-actor videos, it's a must-see module for any employee that divides time between office and home. Search for it by name in the Content Center.

UPDATES

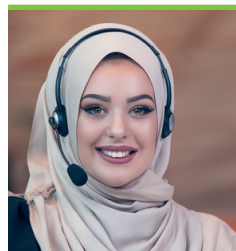

Take Information Security With You This Summer

It's human nature for employees to put information security on the back burner when vacationing. But while they're letting their guard down cyber thieves and social engineers are gearing up. Resorts, airports, cruise ships and even theme parks can be hotbeds for scam artists, shoulder surfers and public wifi stalkers.

Don't let them get the best of your employees or your organization! Our Travel and Out of Office and Social Engineering training modules address key security topics for people on the move. From road-tripping families to business travelers, we've got you covered.

Quick, Easy and Effective

If you're reading this, we know that information security training is one of many job responsibilities. So we've made it easier than ever to launch effective phishing simulations that quickly identify where training is needed most. Just click the Quick Launch button atop the Security Awareness Training dashboard—and you'll be on your way in minutes!
