NEW THIS MONTH

Social Season

Summer is a time for socializing but the information security risks of doing so can put a serious damper on things! Protect your organization and employees with our Socializing Risks bundle spotlighting social engineering tactics, catfishing and other dangers of connecting in person and online. To access all this, just download the latest Click Thinking content bundle—and make the most of our training and your summer!

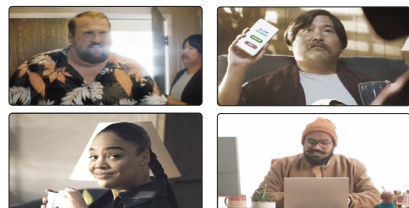

Like Sunscreen from Scammers

Applying sunscreen once at the beginning of summer to protect you all season long is like running one SAT phishing simulation and calling your organization 'cyber safe.' Like the harmful rays of the sun, cyber criminals are also unrelenting. So, make regular training—even during Summer—part of a long-range information security strategy. Like sunscreen, it can help prevent you and your organization from getting burned.

Did You Check Out Our Summer Blockbusters Yet?

Fresh, funny and filled with stars you may recognize from the big screen, these short-form training vignettes take information security training to A-List levels—all in the time it takes to watch a Hollywood trailer!

Flexible, Portable Training That Travels With You

Recommended Summertime Reading

Cybercriminals don't take summers off. In fact, when temperatures climb, scammers rise to the occasion, targeting vacationers and other individuals who let their guard down during these low-key, lazy days.

To keep employees vigilant and protect your organization, we highly recommend the following training this summer:

Travel and Out of Office

Tips to keep your guard up while away on vacation or business.

Public Wifi

Reviews the risks of going online while out and about, including tips to deterring wifi snoopers and shoulder surfers.

Personal Cybersecurity Interactive Training

Covers essentials for protecting yourself from cyber threats in your personal life.

These modules are available now to implement into your training schedule. Search for them by name in the Barracuda Security Awareness Training Content Center.
